Overview

The Royal Windsor Horse Show is a horse show within the sport of equestrian and has been held annually since 1943. The event usually takes place over 4-5 days in May or June in Windsor's Home Park in the United Kingdom on the Windsor Castle estate.

The Royal Windsor Horse Show is the UK's largest significant outdoor horse show. It is unique in the events competed during the show as it is the only one in the United Kingdom to host an international competition for dressage, showjumping, carriage driving, and endurance riding. The show normally hosts 4* and 3* International Showjumping, and 4* International Dressage, and 4* International Carriage Driving offers a range of entertaining and tense competitions for spectators to watch. There are also national classes in showjumping, and Windsor is one of the UK's premier showing events with over 130 showing classes. Viewing Tickets A General Entry ticket allows you access to the whole showground including its 5 arenas and the extensive shopping village. There is also the opportunity to purchase a ticket for General Entry with Reserved Seat where you can reserve a spot in the Castle Arena to ensure that you don't miss any of the action, or a ticket for General Entry with Castle Stand Seating which reserves you an all-day premium seat in the Castle Arena. Travel & Parking The Home Park is located in the private grounds of Windsor Castle in the busy town of Windsor. The nearest motorways to the showground are the M4, M25, and M3. AA signage will direct you to available car parks outside the showground making the venue easily accessible by car. There are also nearby public transport links. Accommodation Ascot's status as an upmarket area and its proximity to Greater London means accommodation is pretty pricey — particularly during highly-anticipated horse-racing events.

Of course, Ascot delivers exactly what you pay for with ultra-luxe boutique hotels and swanky Airbnbs on its menu. Destination & Tourism Ascot may be a small town on the outskirts of London, but this ritzy place has made a big name for itself, particularly amongst the British upper classes. It is, after all, home of the Ascot Racecourse which hosts the country's most prestigious annual horse race. Known for its hat-wearing traditions and star-studded guest list, which includes the likes of Queen Elizabeth and her royal entourage, the Royal Ascot race holds a firm place in the country's heritage. However, Ascot has royal appeal all year round as it neighbors the royals' private estates — Windsor Castle and Frogmore House. Meanwhile, just a short train ride away from the pomp and circumstance of admirable Ascot is the gritty capital city of London and its world-famous sights. Organizers of the Royal Windsor Horse Show, held from 10–14 May 2023, are delighted to announce that the joint most decorated British female Olympian,

Charlotte Dujardin, will be taking part in the Defender CDI4* FEI Dressage aboard Coral Ingham and Carl Hester's striking chestnut gelding
